St Anton

One of the most classic ski resorts in the world is St Anton in the western part of Austria. It was here and in St Moritz the modern ski tourism started up in the early 1900's. Since those days an incredible amount of ski resorts has been build. Still today St Anton is one of the best places to ski off-piste and the small villages in the area are genuine and full of ski culture.

St Anton is a paradise for skiers who like variation and to access great runs without having to use any extra equipment but who are ready to hike a few minutes to reach over a ridge or around a corner, or skiers who are not afraid to end up on a lonely road off boundaries and wait for the post bus.

We propose to stay a bit outside the main resort and use a van for transports. Our focus is skiing and since you can drive a lot faster to different villages in the ski area the car gives us the best flexibility to reach the best snow before most others. There are also many runs that end up in the road but a bit away from the lifts. If you have the van there are many new possibilities that open up, where the chance to be alone in the powder snow is a lot higher.

The great thing about St Anton is that you have all kinds of skiing and the conditions can vary a lot the same day. There might be sun in Rendl and snow in Stuben. Each area; like St Anton, Rendl, Stuben, Lech and others have their specific type of runs and also different type of terrain. There are not many places where you can have so fun on skis as in St Anton, a good thing is that you might have as fun without skis too. The après-ski is known to be maybe the best in the world and the variation of restaurants is very good to be in Austria.

Our favorite place to stay is the Pfeffermuhle just outside the main village. The rooms are great and the service and breakfast perfect, we can eat well here or chose to go to town. We will have a free shuttle available 24h/day, so do not worry about the distance.
